

Perquest Offers Free Resources for Accounting Professionals

Perquest, a provider of payroll outsourcing services, introduces free CPE-accredited Webinars and email Newsletters for Accountants, Bookkeepers, and other financial services professionals

Oakland, CA. July 8, 2008 –Perquest, a provider of web based payroll services for small and medium businesses today announced the introduction of free resources for Accounting professionals.

Recognizing the synergy that exists between our two businesses, Perquest values the relationships we have with professionals in the accounting field. Accountants, Bookkeepers, and other financial services professionals often recommend Perquest services to their clients. In turn, we commit to supporting the accounting community by providing resources designed to build and strengthen their businesses.

Free: CPE-Accredited Webinar Series

We support your educational goals and strive to keep you up-to-date in today's fast-moving business environment with our FREE Certified Professional Education (CPE) Web-based courses or Webinars. Each course qualifies for 1 CPE credit. The first Webinar in this monthly, online series will be delivered on Tuesday, July 22nd at 2pm ET.

Free: Accounting Trends Newsletter

Stay better informed and able to meet the demands of your growing business with our Accounting Trends Newsletter. It delivers timely and informative articles and news stories on topics impacting your daily business.

Recent topics include: FASB statement 141 and its impact on M&A strategy, federal minimum wage increase, taxing employer-provided cell phones and choosing contractors over full-time hires. Participate with your peers in our interactive surveys and stay abreast of trends in your industry.

These resources, along with additional information on the value of developing a relationship with Perquest, can be found on the Accountants Professionals page of the Perquest site.

“Perquest values the relationships developed with professionals in the accounting field,” says Tom Sinton, Perquest President and CEO, “and created these tools to support the accounting community with resources designed to build and strengthen their business.”
